HISTORY

Villa La Guardia Vecchia is an exclusive privately-owned villa situated in the hills in the heart of Tuscany, near Pisa, Lucca, and Florence.

Built in 1800 in Tuscan style, the main villa is a splendid and elegant location to host an unforgettable event.

The villa is surrounded by a large park, featuring numerous areas that are ideal for creating different and picturesque settings: a nineteenth-century Italian garden with large flower beds, benches, and a charming, romantic pergola; a large lawn and fruit orchard; a spacious terrace overlooking a swimming pool and tennis court.

The villa is spread over three floors.

On the ground floor, there is an old cellar with wooden barrels and an internal courtyard with wood-burning oven. On the first floor, there is a large living room, dining room, and 5 spacious and bright double rooms with private bathrooms, immersed in a peaceful, calm setting.

On the second floor, there is another large living room bordering 5 more double bedrooms, two bathrooms, a study, and a beautiful panoramic terrace.

In addition to the main villa there is also another structure, a former oil mill equipped with other large spaces where various events can be organized.
